ENERGY FROM WASTE:

OPPORTUNITIES FOR QUEENSLAND

The Queensland State Government's commitment to a waste strategy that includes an Energy from Waste Policy, along with the impending waste levy is expected to accelerate a number of opportunities in the state. Opportunities that include the development of Refuse derived fuels and the recovery of energy from wastes that cannot be reused or recycled and require technology to divert said waste from landfill.

WRIQ and AIEN are jointly hosting this one-day seminar to provide industry stakeholders with the latest government, technical, finance and business information as it relates to developing energy from waste projects.

HOST ORGANISATIONS

The Waste, Recycling Industry Association of Queensland Inc, (WRIQ) is the premier industry association in Queensland, representing more than 90 Queensland-based organisations ranging from large multi-national organisations through to small family-operated enterprises. WRIQ engages with its stakeholders and advocates and informs on a wide range of legislative and regulatory issues impacting the industry.

The Australian Industrial Ecology Network (AIEN) is a vibrant network of like-minded individuals, companies and institutions with a common interest in sustainable development through the study and practice of industrial ecology.

The AIEN hosts the annual Australian Waste to Energy Forum - Australia's leading event focused on the development of a domestic waste to energy industry.
